One Maritime Family, One National Platform

The National Maritime Games 2027 are proposed as India's first integrated national sports and family platform for the maritime ecosystem bringing together seafarers, ports, shipping companies, PSUs, maritime training institutes, shipyards, RPSLs, logistics organisations, ship-recycling units, universities, research institutions, unions, veterans and maritime families on one campus, under one command.

OUR VISION

To establish the National Maritime Games as India's trusted biennial platform for sporting excellence, maritime unity, workforce wellbeing, family participation, Para inclusion and youth aspiration.

Why a National Maritime Games Platform is Needed

- India's maritime workforce is nationally distributed and professionally diverse. A common event builds identity across ship and shore, public and private, education and employment, active service and retirement.
- Maritime employment carries long separations, shift patterns and demanding safety responsibilities. A family-inclusive event recognizes that seafarer wellbeing is inseparable from family support.
- Sport is a visible entry point for fitness, mental wellbeing, teamwork, leadership and organizational pride – without diluting regulatory or professional priorities.
- A single national edition allows standardized governance, tested digital systems and a measurable baseline before regional or zonal expansion is considered.
- A residential university campus integrates venues, accommodation, volunteers, control-room space and community engagement within one operational command.

Four Strategic Pillars

COMPETE

Nationally governed competition across team, racquet, indoor, aquatic, endurance, specialist and Para disciplines with qualified officiating, transparent draws and published results.

CONNECT

A common platform for seafarers, shore staff, cadets, maritime students, ports, PSUs, shipyards, RPSLs, unions, families, universities and the wider maritime supply chain.

CELEBRATE

Maritime identity, family sacrifice, women pioneers, veterans, rescuers and unsung contributors – through ceremonies, Sagar Mein Yog and Sagar Mein Samman.

BUILD

A repeatable national event model, a digital participant database, institutional sports culture and a 2030 pathway for maritime-sports and technical-skills competitions.

*Proposed operational host: Ganpat University, Gujarat
– one campus, one command, one digital system, one shared national identity.*

Event Profile

Event window	5–12 January 2027
Main venue	Ganpat University, Gujarat; specialist events at audited off-campus venues
Competition model	Direct entry to National Maritime Games
Registration day	5 January 2027
Preliminaries	6–8 January 2027
Proposed opening	9 January 2027
Main Games	10–11 January 2027
Finals, medals and closing	12 January 2027

Participation Planning

A planning band of 60–80 individuals or teams per event, with large team draws normally capped at 32–64 teams per category. One primary entry per organisation per event is considered before second entries, so that representation stays wide. Gender, age, Para and sport-event splits are reported separately – none can be inferred from the overall target.

About The Venue

Ganpat University & International Sports Complex

Ganpat University is a leading multidisciplinary university in Gujarat, spread across a vibrant "300+ acre campus", combining academic excellence, innovation, technology and holistic student development.

A major strength of the campus is its "International Sports Complex", supported by extensive indoor and outdoor sporting infrastructure. The facilities provide an excellent ecosystem for competitive sports, large-scale tournaments, athlete engagement and national-level sporting events.

With its "integrated residential campus, academic infrastructure, sporting facilities and event-management capabilities", Ganpat University offers a distinctive environment where "education, discipline, fitness and sporting excellence come together", making it an ideal destination for prestigious event "National Maritime Games".

SAGAR MEIN YOG

The Games' preventive-health and wellbeing platform. Daily sunrise sessions combine with short, evidence-informed inputs on mobility, sleep, nutrition, mental wellbeing, breathing, stress management and fitness for maritime life.

A flagship mass session is proposed for 10 January. Participation is voluntary, inclusive and non-competitive, with modifications for age, disability and medical condition.

SAGAR MEIN SAMMAN

A dignity-based recognition platform for verified maritime service — not a popularity award. Recognition groups include seafarers with distinguished service, seafarer families, women maritime pioneers, rescuers, veterans, instructors and welfare workers, and unsung institutional contributors.

Every nomination requires evidence, conflict declarations and committee verification.

Family And Community Programme

3 km Family Run

Non-championship, with separate registration, bib and route; guardian consent for minors; cut-off, sweep and medical plan; participation certificate only.

10 km Community Ride

Separate from the 20 km championship; helmet and bicycle inspection; age and guardian limits; traffic-controlled route; no championship medals.

Children's zone

Age-banded supervised activities with safeguarding, registration, parent or guardian contact and controlled handover.

Career pavilion

MTIs, universities, careers, scholarships, women-at-sea and maritime technology — with no unapproved recruitment claims.

Welfare helpdesks

Seafarer welfare, family support, alumni networks, health and government information, through authorised representatives only.

Exhibition

Ports, shipbuilding, safety, green maritime, training, digital systems and sponsor exhibits under approved rights and safety rules.

Target: 1,000+ family and community participants across yoga, run, ride, children's and outreach activities.

Who should participate, and how to enter

Who Should Participate

- Active seafarers with verifiable identity and maritime credentials.
- Employees or formally nominated representatives of ports, maritime PSUs, shipping and ship-management companies, shipyards, ship-repair facilities, RPSLs, maritime boards, logistics organisations, ship-recycling units, unions and other approved maritime organisations.
- Cadets, students, faculty and staff of DGMA-approved MTIs and approved universities offering maritime, marine, naval architecture, ocean, port, logistics or related programmes.
- Invited retired maritime personnel and veterans, where the invitation category is formally notified.
- Para athletes meeting the event-specific eligibility and classification pathway together with the maritime-affiliation requirement.

Registration is organisation-led, digital-first and audit-traceable. Individual self-entry does not by itself create eligibility – every participant must be nominated and certified by an eligible organisation through its authorised nodal officer.
